WASHINGTON, April 18, 1866.

REWARDS FOR THE CAPTURE OF JEFF. DAVIS.

The report of the distribution of the reward of $100,000 for the capture of Jeff. Davis is very brief. Adjutant-General Hunt, and Adjutant-General Townsend, who commanded the Cincinnati squadron in stopping the fugitive, equally with the Fourth Michigan Cavalry, are entitled to a share in the reward. The First Wisconsin Cavalry, which was also engaged in the pursuit, and arrived on the ground but a few moments after the capture was effected. They say that Colonel Pritchard acted in entire good faith towards Colonel Harnden, and that Harnden is entirely responsible for the unfortunate collision which occurred between the two regiments. They at the same time bear testimony to the valuable services of the Wisconsin regiment, and concur in the statement that all his men, whether of the cavalry or infantry, were under the command of the officer of the Wisconsin regiment; and say that their services were highly appreciated by Colonel Pritchard.

Quartermaster-General Donahue has ordered the discharge of all soldiers who have served three years or more, and who have been mustered out of the service, and who re-enlisted within sixty days after their discharge, and who have not been credited to their respective States and counties. The latter limits all who care to take advantage of the order to one day, viz., the 19th inst. A table of the number of men to be discharged from each State, Territory, &c., will be furnished to the Governors of States, &c., in a few days. The furloughs will not appear for the reception of the men on the rolls of the regiments, and applications cannot be forwarded from them.

By order of the President.

E. D. TOWNSEND, A. A. G.

A NAVAL MUSEUM FOR THE NORTH AMERICAN CONTINENT.

The Army Medical Museum, of the Surgeon-General's office, has finally been established in the Ford's Theatre building, on Tenth street, between E and F streets. The collection of specimens, models, &c., is now very large, and is rapidly increasing. Surgeon-General Barnes, assisted by Assistant-Surgeon Otis, U. S. A., has charge of the museum. The specimens are all labeled and numbered, and a catalogue is being prepared, which will be published in a few months. The museum is open to visitors every day, except Sunday, from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M. Strangers visiting the city are invited to call and examine the collection.

The Secretary of the Navy has issued a circular letter to the Governors of the several States, calling their attention to the subject of establishing a naval museum for the reception of trophies, models, &c., illustrative of the naval history of the country. The letter says:

"The Department is desirous of establishing a museum for the reception of trophies, models, &c., illustrative of the naval history of the country, and has directed that a room in the Patent Office building be set apart for the purpose. The Department is also desirous of procuring a model of every vessel of the Navy, and of every vessel that has been captured from the enemy during the present war. Should your State possess any trophies of the war, or any models of vessels, the Department would be pleased to receive them, and will be found to be in the Patent Office building, Washington, D. C., and forwarded at the expense of the Government. Models of vessels should be accompanied by a brief history of the vessel, and the name of the person who presents the model. All communications should be addressed to the Secretary of the Navy, Washington, D. C."

SPEECH OF PRESIDENT JOHNSON.

In Response to a Call of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Union.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—In reply to the crowd in attendance and calling for the President, Mr. Johnson said:

Fellow-citizens, I feel that I am in the presence of a portion of the peculiar portion of patriotism which your presence and address gives me. I have to say to you that I am glad to see you at this time. We are to-day witnessed in one of the most important periods of our history. I have to say to you that I am glad to see you in the presence of the Congress of the United States. The legislation will be commenced, we are about of the Congress of the United States.
